

MESSAGE

The Steel Melting Industry in the secondary sector, consisting mainly of Units having Induction Furnaces, has seen some really turbulent times recently. To stay competitive, we need to encourage innovation, stay updated in technology as well as management practices while at the same time fulfilling our social responsibilities as corporate citizens. And to do it effectively, all induction furnace units have to actively come together under the banner of AIIFA, which has been serving the industry remarkably during all these years.
